GET THE MOST FROM YOUR RENEWAL TRAINING

The intent of annual renewal training is to ensure that water and wastewater personnel maintain the necessary skills and knowledge to properly operate their facilities. It also allows operators to keep abreast with new operational practices and changing treatment technology. Accurate Environmental Training Center (AETC) offers ODEQ approved classes for the renewal of water and wastewater operator and lab licenses. This year, AETC is offering new and improved refresher classes that still provide in-depth instruction, but also include engaging hands-on training – all taught by industry experts with decades of experience. For example, the new Sampling classes will allow students to practice sampling techniques, properly filling out required documentation, as well as reading and understanding analytical reports. The new QA/QC classes provide extensive information and training pertaining to the upcoming EPA Quality Control regulations for all treatment plant laboratory technicians. AETC refresher classes are designed to be interesting and informative, keeping the student actively involved, which results in higher retention of the material. AETC's record high enrollment rate for renewal classes in 2012 and the positive feedback received indicates that operators all over Oklahoma are discovering the AETC difference. Why waste half a day sitting through a presentation that isn't going to help you perform your job better? Register for an AETC renewal class and experience for yourself what distinguishes Accurate Environmental Training Center from the competition.
